

The American Federation of Government Employees SSA General Committee and the 42,500 employees it represents have two asks of Congress:

1

That Congress restores the Social Security Administration's funding to 1.2% of benefit outlays. This funding ratio would allow SSA to have a workforce able to process the public's earned Social Security benefits in a timely and accurate manner.

2

That Congress preserves modern efficiency within the Social Security Administration by keeping the telework program. Telework is a cost-saving measure that improves productivity, service delivery and efficiency.
